

Does He Love You

Teddy Geiger

I swear
I love you more and more
As my love grows, yours sinks to the floor
And I can't help but try to catch your eye
You're always leaving me behind, behind

Does he love you?
Does he love you, yeah?
Does he love you?
Does he love you, yeah?

Well I'll wait until I catch my breath a little
And then I'll try and speak to you, my sweet
Oh, I can't help but wonder what you have been thinking
I see your wheels turning
It's hard just to let go, harder to say so
My baby, oh my baby

Does he love you?
Does he love you, yeah?
Does he love you?
Does he love you, yeah?

Does he love you, oh
Does he love you, oh no
Does he love you, oh
Does he love you, yeah?

Don't you know I know you, girl
You are to leave
So don't worry about me
Slowly, my eyes will run dry
Happiness fades when I can't see your pretty face
And tired eyes will find no sleep
The thought of you will dissipate
And as years pass by far and wide
I'll search for one pair of eyes
That will remind me of all we had
I guess my point is I'll be fine

So close your eyes
And you decide
And you decide
You don't love me
I see it in your eyes
Counting petals on the flowers by the riverside, oh
But does he love you?
Does he love you like I do?
Does he love you, oh
Does he love you, yeah?