

They Came From The Shadows

Teenage Bottlerocket

There's something there in the midnight air
It's hanging with impending doom
I paid no heed to the danger that night
And left the safety of my living room
I heard something behind me
And then I realized that I was not alone
And I would later come to find
That they didn't come to kill
But rather turn me into one of their own
Yeah something wasn't right
That night they came from the shadows
There's nothing you can do
They're coming after you
And they came from the shadows
I got away and ducked into a place
Where I could settle down and try to think Thought for a minute I had lost my mind
So I sat down and had myself a drink
The night wore on and I was feeling fine
And unassuming of my new found friends
The wicked ones with the evil plan of turning me into...
Yeah something wasn't right
That night they came from the shadows
There's nothing you can do
They're coming after you
And they came from the shadows
Yeah something wasn't right
They came from the shadows
