

Sometimes I Don't Need To Believe In Anything

Teenage Fanclub

Drifting back through blossom streets
The silent me to loud
The cooling towers(?) and the mysteries
The gloaming lights tonight

Deep inside you never let go
Deep inside you never let this go

Taking a ride on a subway train
To feel more alive when you get back out again
And if you meet those eyes you feel all is known
Under a summer sky there's a gentle wind is blowing

Sometimes I don't need to believe in anything
Sometimes I don't need to believe in anything
Sometimes I don't need to believe in anything

Heading west towards the glowing evening sunset
On an august night
Waking up before the mist is fully lifted
In the morning light
You feel the sadness in her eyes
As the autumn wind and golden leaves starts singing

Sometimes I don't need to believe in anything
Sometimes I don't need to believe in anything
Sometimes I don't need to believe in anything
Sometimes I don't need to believe in anything
Sometimes I don't need to believe in anything
Sometimes I don't need to believe in anything
