

Dying Duck In A Thunderstorm

Ten Foot Pole

You heard the warnings saw the signs
Do you still think we left you behind?
Don't you remember how we tried?
Another place
Another time
Without reason without rhyme
Can you imagine life without your pride?
You look up at me with those hurt puppy dog eyes
I never meant to hurt you
I'm sorry that I had to be the one to tell you
That you screwed up for the last time
I know that there were times before
When I said I would be there
That's when I thought the choice was mine
But now I've lived and I know better
Promises were never meant to be
Because I couldn't see
That the things you thought you'd change
You had no will to rearrange
So you made a liar out of me
What else can I say?
I'm sorry it turned out this way
Do you think we'll ever be the same
I'd still call you my friend
But to you it's the end
I know you think that I'm the one to blame
