

Hammering Out The Details

Ten Foot Pole

I find myself entrenched again in things that just don't matter
,
So I throw it aside. 'cause I'm not gonna waste my time,
I've spent most of my life punching the clock.
hammering out the details,
I want to get up off this ride,
Once again I ask myself,
Who am I what have I done that I am proud of?
It's time to wake myself up,
Everyday another crises I work to avoid disaster
New deadlines and the urgent phone calls.
In the end what is it worth?
Well I'm not satisfied just hammering out the details
I want to get up off this ride
It's time to claim my life,
Who am I what have I done that I am proud of?
Who am I what have I done?
I'll be gone before you know I want to make a mark before I go
It's up to me to take control