

Look Me Straight into the Eyes

Ten Years After

When you get through telling lies,
Look me straight into the eyes.
When you get down to the core,
Tell me what you want me for.

When you've played your little game,
I will still be just the same.
When you've got what you came for,
Don't forget to close the door.

If you like I'll nod my head and grin,
I'll pretend that I've been taken in.
Speak to me before it is too late,
Tell the truth and we can get it straight.
