

She Lies in the Morning

Ten Years After

She lies in the morning
Red sky is the warning, yes it is
She lies in the morning
Red sky is in her eyes
She cries cause the morning is too long
She tries, but she still can't carry on
She lies to escape the morning sun
She dies and the world still carries on

Where did you go?
Why did you fall?
She didn't know there's nothing at all

You killed yourself, my love
There's nothing left for me
Life was a pain, but now you're free
You shot your soul, my love
Blew all you had
Now, I'm left here feeling bad
You shot your life away
For the unreal
Now, there's nothing left to feel
You made your tracks, my love
You made them deep
Now, there's nothing left but sleep