

Silent Rain

Ten

There was once a time long ago
When true love drew man and woman together
She was all he wanted to know
And he swore that he would love her forever
So the light fades the colours of life when it's gone
Like a lost ship of dreams that failed to sail
But to him she was more than just another fairytale
She became his reality unveiled

Silent Rain

You and I have shared the fears the night betrayed
Through the eyes where love appeared but died in vain
Torn open, bound together
Silent Rain
Even now, you hide the tears, you light the way
Through the darkness that remains
A brand new day, dawns broken, now, forever
Silent Rain

Wait for me, one bright star away
There we'll spend our timeless moments together
What we built let no one replace
There's a place here in my heart child, forever
If the light fades the colours of life when it's gone
Like a lost ship of dreams that failed to sail
We will prove we were more than just another fairytale
What we had was reality unveiled

Silent Rain

You and I have shared the fears the night betrayed
Through the eyes where love appeared but died in vain
Torn open, bound together
Silent Rain
Even now, you hide the tears, you light the way
Through the darkness that remains
A brand new day, dawns broken, now, forever
Silent Rain

There was once a time long ago
When true love drew man and woman together
You were all I wanted to know
And I swore that I would love you forever
So the light fades the colours of life when it's gone
Like a lost ship of dreams that failed to sail
But to me you were more than just another fairytale
You became my reality unveiled

Silent Rain

You and I have shared the fears the night betrayed
Through the eyes where love appeared but died in vain
Torn open, bound together
Silent Rain
Even now, you hide the tears, you light the way
Through the darkness that remains
A brand new day, dawns broken, now, forever
Silent Rain