

It All Feels The Same

Tennis

Took a train to
Took a train to get to you

Finally got there
And I couldn't find you anywhere

We could be good but we don't live the way that we should Constantly told we're imperfect and cannot be good

Took a train to
Took a train to get to you

Finally got there
And I couldn't find you anywhere

We could be good but we don't live the way that we should
Constantly told we're imperfect and cannot be good
Tired of waiting around for you to intervene
Tired of wishing that you even knew what I mean

When I say your name
I look for a change
But everywhere I go
It all feels the same

When I say your name
I look for a change
But everywhere I go
It all feels the same

When I say your name
I look for a change
But everywhere I go
It all feels the same

When I say your name
I look for a change
But everywhere I go
It all feels the same

We could be good but we don't live the way that we should
Constantly told we're imperfect and cannot be good
Tired of waiting around for you to intervene
Tired of wishing that you even knew what I mean
