We got our first McDonald's and it made the headline news In a town where no one locks their doors at night All the lights are flashing yellow, we just roll right through And there is not a superstore in sight But there's more to life I told myself, I'd say good bye By the time the clock struck twelve But I can't pull the trigger on that changing world out there With all these dreams, I can't believe I'm still standing here It's time to face the fact, I'm not the rebel that I thought 'Cause midnight's gone but I'm not Everyone I run into has known me all my life There are no secrets you can call your own Since the age of seventeen, I've faced the morning light Saying this day is the day I'm gonna go All I have to do is drive away But the things that make me crazy Always make me stay 'Cause I can't pull the trigger on that changing world out ther With all these dreams I can't believe I'm still standing here It's time to face the fact, I'm not the rebel that I thought

It's time to face the fact, I'm not the rebel that I thought 'Cause midnight's gone, midnight's gone, I'm not