Smash Through You

Face to face with what I must destroy My own worst enemy crossed out, void And you think you hate me? I can take your best It could never touch How much I hate myself

Smash through you Set to explode I must destroy I smash through you

Caged inside, I against I Destined to burn in these desperate times

Promised myself only lies Burnt bridges, bit the hand that feeds I've got to find my calm And smash though all the filth inside of me Terror