The Feelings That We Lost

Terry Jacks

I heard you saying something this morning About the way I've been treating you And all the times I've been making you cry I'm not saying it's not true

But we've been here now for quiet wild lives And I've been thinking it's time to leave I don't feel good now Without you smile You're not happy here with me

And like the seasons that come between us And like the bridges we never crossed Like the love that's slowly dying From the feelings that we lost

And if I'm not back when it's summer And if I'm not here in the fall If I'm still gone when the snows on Then i won't come back at all

And if you miss me
Don't try to find me
Cause I'll be looking to find my self
And I'll be long gone when the snow is on
Maybe with somebody else

And like the seasons that come between us And like the bridges we never crossed Like the love that's slowly dying From the feelings that we lost

And if you miss me
Don't try to find me
Cause I'll be looking to find my self
And I'll be long gone when the snow is on
Maybe with somebody else

And like the seasons that come between us And like the bridges we never crossed Like the love that's slowly dying From the feelings that we lost
