

Synchronizing

Tesla Boy

I have some time to spare
Think it would be fair
To teach what I care

I told them "walk the line"
Twenty zero nine
Is bringing new crime

Will you remember this time
When I said "Don't you cry!"
I was throwing my knives

But synchronizing love again
Oh, You are paralyzed, my lamb
As I warm up wax again again and again

Still, will you please stand still
And forget the thrill
Or you will be killed

You will not feel the pain
Of the world. Remain
Calm and restrained

You will remember this time
You are young and alive
And I'm throwing the knife

But synchronizing love again
Oh, You are paralyzed, my lamb
As I warm up wax again again and again

Staring down the pretty face
I want to know her name