

Magnolia

Texas in July

I remember that day,
When I tried to patch your pain with faith,
And you betrayed me and our family,
Was it easy for you to walk away?

Full speed ahead with no turn back,
I watched the days turn your soul to black.

I never knew what your love was,
I can't accept it to this day,
Your life is driving me insane,
And I can't even begin to explain,
This situation to anyone,
Because I've lost my mind.

Lost my mind.

Mad, walking like the dead,
You walked away and paid no respect,
To those who love you.

Now you did it,
And it's over now,
No longer to be controlled,
You made your choice,
Now I'm through,
And I hope and pray that sense will find you.

I'm sorry, sorry.

I'm sorry that this is how it has to be in the end,
I simply have nothing left to give,
You've drained me,
For the worst,
I'm the one that always put you first,
I am alone,
You let me drown.

I can't forgive you,
But my memory of you will always stay,
As a loving person, who threw it all away.

I'm sorry that this is how it has to be in the end,
I simply have nothing left to give,
You've drained me,
For the worst,
I'm the one that always put you first,
I am alone,
You let me drown,
Let me down.