You've Got To Live A Little

Texas

have you still got the illusion of what's lying ahead then you'd still have your innocence and days wouldn't seem so bad but i've always wondered why you've never grown

but now I know

you gotta take a little time for yourself you gotta live a little life on your own
you gotta take a little time for yourself
it's just what you're needing storms always make you happy but they hide everything inside make believe that they're soft to touch then they blind you with their light that has always made me wonder

why you've never grown
but now, I know

you gotta take a little time for yourself
you gotta live a little life on your own
yes you gotta take a little time for yourself
it's just what you're needing

I know what you're needing yes I do

but i've always wondered
why you've never grown
and now I know

you gotta take a little time for yourself
you gotta live a little life on your own
yes, you gotta take a little time for yourself
it's just what you're needing oh that's what you're needing yeh

(take a little time for yourself) oh take a little time (live a little life on your own) oh live a little life
(take a little time for yourself)
oh that's what you're needing
oh that's what you're needing you gotta take a little time, yeh
oh live a little life
that's what you're needing