

The Hideaway

The 5th Dimension

Time is such a draggy element
Like an elephant you must ride
That's a dull routine in any case
Got to be a place you can hide

You gotta get away from it all
And let it all hang out
We could be having a ball if you'd take down your wall
And get out of that stall you're living in

You don't like my basic attitude
You think I am rude, and I may be
I got no responsibility
Dependability
I'm so free

You gotta get away from it all
And let it all hang out
We could be having a ball if you'd take down your wall
And get out of that stall you're living in

You're almost a winner
You got yourself together
If you would just untie your tether and be free

Cold is such a chilly temperature
Are you really sure you're that kind?
Careful if you smile, your face may break
That would really shake up your mind

You gotta get away from it all
And let it all hang out
We could be having a ball if you'd take down your wall
And get out of that stall you're living in
