

A Breath Beneath

The Absence

I fell so low on the long way home sinking ever steadily waiting for this heart to stop in between where We die far from this long goodbye

Emptiness
where we fall drifting apart
facing the end with regret
I cannot

Shadows weaken starting to stir a motion in deception begins to blur I'm focusing on things i can't end broken ties and wounds that won't mend To the city of ghostly statues and a broad feeling of clamor I'll step to the edge and push ten long until the words hit just like a hammer

Emptiness
where we fall drifting apart
facing the end with regret

And all that I have ever loved has now turned empty and all that at I have ever kept, is in this long goodbye

When You fall, I will fall with Heaven in between this breath
beneath

When You fall, I will fall with Heaven in between this breath

I bid farewell to this year long wrapped in wings To the shameless, to the faceless, You will forever remain....nameless
