

Sitting and waiting for something entertaining to flow from a glowing screen washing right over your brain like a sickening sludge Lounge in formation
loss of sensation
What is the point of working all the diligent day
if at the end you come home and say

"What a burden being a person
What a burden being alive"?

All about comfort
we like to walk in a line
We follow those from before us making mistakes (yeah)
time after time
Let's dig deep
let's find out what's inside Let's never rest and never say

"What a burden being a person
What a burden being alive"
Take some pride in being a person
Take back your eyes
and be alive

Is it human nature
to want to change or
Is it human nature
to want to stay the same?
Is it human nature
to make new rules or
Is it human nature
to learn to play the game?

Is it human nature
to want to change or
Is it human nature
to want to stay the same?
Is it human nature
to make new rules or...