Goldfish

The Adicts

oh where did my goldfish go swam away now where did my golfish go oh oh!

oh where did my goldfish go swam away now where did my golfish go oh oh!

so you think you shound surreal just imagine how it feels outside no surprises at corners are found when you go round and around and around day after day after day should have tried it a different way by now by now but t's the glass walls we never see the invisible boundary some how so you think you sound surreal to breath n the rarefield air it's an endless ocean out there oh where did my goldfish go he swam away now
