

Everything You Know

The Advent

Just give me one word before you slowly drift away
Just one chance to forget yesterdays
You're always misleading your heart
And it's tearing me, tearing me all apart

Tell me what were you thinking all those times you lied
All those times you lied
Tell me everything you know about how you really feel

As we look back on our lives so misarranged
I always have regretted what we made
Constantly mistreating my heart
And it's tearing me, tearing me all apart

Tell me what were you thinking all those times you lied
All those times you lied
Tell me everything you know about
You know about how you really feel

You've gone and ripped me all apart
You've gone and ripped me all apart
You've gone and ripped me all apart
You've gone and ripped me all apart
You've gone and ripped me all apart
You've gone and ripped

Tell me what were you thinking all those times you lied
All those times you lied
Tell me everything you know about
You know about how you really feel