

11:11 P.M.

The All-american Rejects

All the windows,
Swear to miss you,
And the doors are cell block tight,
Sweet sedation,
Sweep the issues,
And the clocks about to strike
Did it call you down,
Are you back just yet,
Waiting now please come set me free,
And the only sound is a minute left.

This could be, this could be the last time

It's a chance to fix mistakes,
One more for the last time,
Does it blow our dreams away,
Don't waste this chance with your smile
Ten seconds left on this dial,
This could be the last time.

Along the staircase,
I dream to hear you,
In a whisper quiet room,
Space the thinking,
Space to scream to,
But the echoes sound like you,
Not the stars at night,
In a pitch black sky,
I don't know just wants to see you
But the time is right and it only flies.

This could be, this could be the last time

It's a chance to fix mistakes,
One more for the last time,
Does it blow our dreams away,
Don't waste this chance with your smile
Ten seconds left on this dial,
This could be the last time.

It's only us,
It's only now,
A simple wish,
It's only tonight.

This could be the last time,
Now I've made our last mistake
One more for the last time, (this could be) (this could be)
Does it blow our dreams away, (this could be) (this could be)
Don't waste this chance with your smile (this could be (this could be)
Ten seconds left on this dial, (this could be) (this could be)
This could be the last time. (this could be) (this could be)
It's only us,
It's only now,
It's only tonight.