

Loophole

The Ambassador

[Chorus]

You're born, you suffer, you die, but there's a Loophole

[Verse 1]

You're born, you suffer, you die - ever ask why?

That's the task I have, I'm comin' just as I am

My plan is to help the planet understand this:

man is under the 2nd law of thermo-dynamics

Which means at the seams everything falls apart

Genesis 3 the Fall's the start

Now I'm called to spark hope in an ugly world rougher than rugby

Where stuff be making it hard to say, "Jesus Loves Me."

Plus we see the sorrow

And many get rich bettin' their bottom dollar "The sun won't be out tomorrow

They question, "If there's a God how can nobody see Him?

And if He's mad then how can I appease Him?

Give me a reason to believe Him or receive Him

My season is forever freezin', it seems like winter's never leavin'

Ask my boys we all feel we got a raw deal

I feel like cashing in my chips, crashing in my 4-wheel

For real the pain is drivin' me insane Kid

Explain this- How much longer can I can sustain this?

What could make more sense than suicide

When after being born, you only suffer, then ya die?"

[Repeat Chorus]

[Verse 2]

Your birth, ya hurts, then you're hearse there's a curse

In God's empire He had to strike back, we struck first

It should be worst check the evidence

The deeds of earth's residence are Bad from the kids to the Presidents

It's hard "B" finding somebody living godly

It's so rare like seeing black people playing hockey

And I see man's got sin like dogs get rabies

How else do you explain why we save trees and kill babies?

Sucked in by the suction of the material hell zone

It's not enough to have a beeper - gotta have a cell phone

Debt is well known but still mother's who know they can't afford ____

Still they rob Peter and Paul to buy their kids some Jordan's

Guys are called punks if they maintain virginity

Girls give it up and the next day gotta say, "Remember me?"

We sin with all our energy, dream of being on TV, and many make it, on
"COPS." I see the series weekly

You see the picture and you try to understand

Like watchin' the Japan version of Jackie Chan

I've just scratched the surface but earth is mad far from its purpose

And soon to out just like the surface

[Repeat Chorus]

[Verse 3]

So this cycle of things have brought more pains than bunions

Many tears like when you peel many raw onions

We're made to rule but Satan's fooled us

And got us on a bumpy ride like a yellow school bus

And now he rules cause we gave the rule up
Sin's his tool to amuse ya
knowing you'll lose to the sin in the future
We've got the knack for sinnin', yet we want back dominion
But we steer our lives wrong like jags with broke rack and pinion
Now turn the news on, nothing new's on We're going about as far as a car with no gas and a boot on
But now meet the God who put a human suit on Got in man's shoes without a shoe horn got His suit torn for men
Born to win just to go on a limb
To die for sin so men could be born again
They taunted Him saying "If your God flaunt it then. Get off the cross,"
But that's the cost so He stayed on it, friend
Letting a reservoir of divine blood pour
For the joy of providing a sick world a cure
And a chance to be with their Redeemer ever, see His face forever
See His grace forever
Now I say Yahweh I trust ya
Now I like it His way, not my way like Usher
Cause the way of man leads to eternal strife
But the way of Christ, the Loophole, leads to eternal life

[Repeat Chorus till fade]
