The Amity Affliction

I was waiting for you man
Right down there by the sea
Where we used to meet
To share in our pain and decry misery

I waited, I waited, I waited I swear
But when I got down to the ocean man
You were not fucking there

I just wish that you spoke up and held out your hand
Because you know I was there man you know that I cared

I waited for you but you never came
No you never came
And now that you're gone I feel I'm to blame
Yeah I feel I'm to blame

I wanted to hear it, I wanted to know
I've been grieving so much with each passing day
But I'm angry and hurt and I hate you all the same

I just wish that you spoke up and held out your hand
Because you know I was there man you know that I cared

I waited for you but you never came
No you never came
And now that you're gone I feel I'm to blame
Yeah I feel I'm to blame

I know now you hated life even more with each breath
I know now that you did not have any fight left

To know you were grieving with each passing day
I know you were grieving with each passing day
And to know most of all you did not want to stay
And I know most of all you did not want to stay
And you know you were grieving with each passing day

I waited for you but you never came
No you never came
And now that you're gone I feel I'm to blame
Yeah I feel I'm to blame

Did I never listen, did I never show
Did I never show cause I wanted to hear
I wanted to hear it, I wanted to know
I wanted to know
