

Is That You?

The Angels

Got a job on the check out line
Move some time again
Looking back on your hungry lovers
By the who remains?
You seem so lucky ones
Your poorer than poor
Your look like a stranger now but you don't act strange at all

Is that you at my window?
Do you remember who you are?
But you know that we've been living a million miles apart

Now you got everything you need, gotta a uniform
Change your style while they're trying on a new clone
Gotta keep you warm
The likely thing you missed, the wasted call
Your look like a stranger now but you don't act strange at all

Is that you at my window?
Do you remember who you are?
But you know that we've been living a million miles apart

You seem so lucky ones
Your poorer than poor
Your look like a stranger now but you don't act strange at all
Is that you at my window?
Do you remember who you are?
But you know that we've been living a million miles apart
Is that you?
Is that you?