

Comfort Zone

The Answer

Work all day, come back home, get a little older
I don't feel like I belong, devil on my shoulder

Discomfort I wait for you, discomfort I

Try and break my routine, it's harder than it looks like
Drowning in monotony, thinking that I'm alright

Discomfort I wait for you, discomfort I

Can I embrace a moment with you?
Can I embrace a moment with you?

I missed my chance a thousand times before
I swear that I am gonna miss no more
I will die in this place reading in the papers
Another frown, another face hoping for a rebirth

Discomfort I wait for you, discomfort I

Can I embrace a moment with you?
Can I embrace a moment with you?
I don't need a lifetime, a moment will do
Can I embrace a moment with you?

For I missed my chance a thousand times before
I swear that I, I am gonna miss no more
Yes I missed my chance a thousand times before
I tell you why I am gonna miss no more

Get it out, get it out of my way
Get it out, get it out of my way

Can I embrace a moment with you?
Can I embrace a moment with you?
No, I don't need a lifetime, a moment will do
Can I embrace a moment with you?

For I missed my chance a thousand times before
And I tell you why I am gonna miss no more
So when you're giving a reason to me
I've waited to want more, and more, and more and more
Yes I swear that I, I'm gonna miss no more

No more, I missed my chance a thousand times before
And I tell you why I am gonna miss no more