New Day Rising

The Answer

All around the sky's are falling down A new kind of sound, the smile becomes a frown Wait for me now to run Run towards the sun that will not shine A just reward we're searching for the sign Wait for me now to run

Now is the time for a new generation today Now is the time for a new generation today - oh today

Clear your eyes to wounds that will not heel Talk it out alone Wait for me now to run

Now is the time for a new generation today Now is the time for a new generation today Now is the time for a new generation the sun the moon and the h oly nation Now is the time for a new generation today

You gotta love the life that you live the most You gotta love the life that you lead You gotta love the life, you gotta love the life You gotta love

Now is the time for a new generation today Now is the time for a new generation today Now is the time for a new generation the sun the moon and the h oly nation Now is the time for a new generation today
