

Back Against The Wall

The Apers

Lost in a world with no perspective
It's hard for me to stay objective
Cause there's always something going wrong
I act too fast or wait too long
And then I'm back with my back against the wall

Lost in a world with no dimension
With no remorse, no comprehension
I feel sick, it's getting hard to breathe
Almost choking, rescue me
Guess I'm back with my back against the wall

I'm back Back against the wall
I'm back Back against the wall
I'm back Back against the wall
Here I am with my back against the wall

Lost in a world with no tomorrow
I try to keep it on the down-low
I lean back, enjoy the luxury
I just don't let it bother me
I'm doing fine with my back against the wall