

Truck Driver

The Archies

Truck driver, where are you bound?
Truck driver, where are you bound?
Let me come along with you and help me find that little girl with eyes of brown

Truck driver, you got all them license plates
Truck driver, talegate full of license plates
I know ya'll gotta hit that road and take that load to twenty-seven different states

She might have gone to Baltimore
She talked about it the night before
She might have gone to New York City
The skies are gray but the lights are pretty
She might have gone to Hollywood
I know she'd go there if she could

Oh truck driver, are you L.A. bound?
Truck driver, are you L.A. bound?
Let me come along with you and help me find that little girl with
eyes of brown
Closing: Truck Driver!
Oh woah ho!
...