

Message Of Our Love

The Association

Wind escorts the day outside
Clouds of sheep's wool lionize the moon
For soon the moment that we meet
Phantom trees that whisper down the street
Relay our message of love

Night, what mysteries will it bring
Who can tell when Spring becomes of age
One page of letters bound foretells
Of the sorrow that your kiss dispels
And holds our message of love

Fires at horizon's edge
Warm the soft breath of this pledge of ours
Bright stars that linger in their flight
Who will know the plans we share tonight
Reflect our message of love

They heed the message
They heed the message
They heed the message
