Home Again

Home Again Housesitting again Rifle through Your possessions and stuff Things that you Are ashamed of

Home again, housesitting again Looking through photos At the back of your drawer The way that you looked When you were small

You're safe, there's no prowler No creeper in your lane It's better than drugs it's cool To be in your home again

Home Again housesitting again It's just a little bit far From the main crowd Reading your poems When you're not around

Home again, housesitting again Hospital letter, a clinic on hold A test that you took Awaiting results

You're safe, there's no prowler No creeper in your lane It's better than drugs it's cool To be in your home again
