From Atrophy To Obsession

The Autumn Offering

Don't turn away Don't say your last goodbyes I bled for you You know I tried When you're rid of me What will you look back and say? That your wasted time You can't get back and try Left too numb to cry And now the skies have blackened

This cross I bear for you

And now I'm dying again By flames of my obsession I won't let you go If I could clip off your wings Spit out the bitter poison Silence will leave you cold

Hold on to this misery When it's all that you've known

I hold on in the wake of your absence In my heart I can't let go

And now I'm dying again By flames of my obsession I won't let you go If I could clip off your wings Spit out the bitter poison Silence will leave you cold

I do this all for myself Always I seek redemption Silence will leave you cold