Third Man Theme

The Band

When a zither starts to play You'll remember yesterday In its haunting strain Vienna lives again

Free and bright and gay
In your mind a sudden gleam
Of a half forgotten dream
Seems to glimmer when you hear
The Third Man Theme

Once again there comes to mind Someone that you left behind Love that somehow didn't last In that happy city of the past

Does she still recall the dream
That rapture so supreme
When first she heard the haunting
Third Man Theme

Carnivals and carousels
And ferris wheels and parasols
The Danube nights
The dancing lights again will shine
The zither's sweet refrain
Keeps swirling in your brain

Like new May wine Strauss waltzes, candle-glow And the laughter of long ago Fill the magic chords And make it seem like today

You never knew that you could be Enchanted by a melody
The years will never drive it out
You don't know why

It's something you can't live without You hear it in the twilight hush And in the morning traffic rush

A song that's always new
In your heart a part of you
Oh, shines so brightly when you hear
The Third Man Theme

When a zither starts to play You'll remember yesterday In its haunting strain Vienna lives again

Free and bright and gay
In your mind a sudden gleam
Of a well remembered dream
Seems to glimmer when you hear

The Third Man Theme

Once again there comes to mind Someone that you left behind Love that somehow didn't last In that happy city of the past

Does she still recall the dream
That rapture so supreme
When first she heard the haunting
Third man theme

Carnivals and carousels
And ferris wheels and parasols
The Danube nights
The dancing lights again will shine

The zither's sweet refrain Keeps swirling in your brain Like new May wine

Strauss waltzes, candle glow And the laughter of long ago Fill the magic chords And make it seem like today

You never knew that you could be Enchanted by a melody
The years will never drive it out You don't know why

It's something you can't live without You hear it in the twilight hush And in the morning traffic rush

A song that's always new
In your heart a part of you
Oh, shines so brightly when you hear
The Third Man Theme