

All Our Endless Love

The Bird and the Bee

At first I was scared
The way these feelings started coming on
I couldn't breathe without you there
I couldn't see without you in my arms
I opened up my eyes to find your eyes already opened
I see a piece of me inside,
As if it spent there all the time

I am just blood, I am just past
I am just a heart that's beating up every second of your touch
I am just heart, I am just scar
I am falling to the rhythm of all your endless love

It kicks me up at night
Was there a time I lived without you
Just leaving out your red
Every breathe is all about you
I am spinning all the worlds around
To try to rearrange it
I work so hard to say goodnight
But is too much of you left behind

I am just blood, I am just blood
(You are just running through my veins)
I am just a heart that's beating up every second of your touch
I am just eye, I am just eye
(You are everything I see)
I am falling to the rhythm of all your endless love

Is this really ending
Is this really ending of our endless love

I am just blood, I am just blood
(You are just running through my veins)
I am just a heart that's beating every second of your touch
I am just eye, I am just eye
(You are everything I see)
I am falling to the rhythm of all your endless love