I'm Charming

The Black Dahlia Murder

Yeah, I?m running off the rails I?ve finally gone crazy And the ground is spinning faster Than my teeth could ever grind

I know it?s a shame When success does complain But I don?t remember my name In the absolute wrong

I have made this place to lay my head A reoccurring nightmare I never trust, I never rest I?ve become another victim Of this self-serving device

My cock does all the talking My mouth now just for lie I?m winding down to nothing It?s suddenly so clear I?m winding down to nothing

A human smoke that fills the air What can you believe? That is the question I have you on a string Something yet up my sleeve

Bury me deep as I have an unborn child In a world yet cold enough to host This seed of endless ugliness In a sea of corruption

A wake of lie so wildly I have stirred I?m winding down to nothing It?s suddenly so clear I?m winding down to nothing

A human smoke that fills the air What can you believe? That is the question I have you on a string Something yet up my sleeve

My love is but a lie Always reaping what I have sown I?m taking you down with me To degrees you?ll never know
