

Draw The Line

The Blue Van

I've been staring out the window I've been waiting by the phone I've been worried, 'cause you said you'd be straight home

You've been given many chances Far to many times Honey, this is where I draw the line

'Cause I'm always looking over my shoulder Just to see if you'r e committing a crime This poor heart of mine has never been col der This is where I draw the line

Everybody's talking And I tell them everything is fine That all is fame and glory All the time

But all this false pretending Keeps sending shivers down my spi ne Darling, this is where I draw the line

Gonna throw the towel down and surrender Because I'm about to l oose my mind 'Cause I know your not a first offender This is wh ere I draw the line
