

Cracked

The Bouncing Souls

I'm gonna crack one day I'll just leave and go my way They might say i quit ask me if i give a shit I'll put it out and place one bet the day i crack i won't regret I know it's time to be a man and deal with things the best i can In fact i'm only seeing red everytime i turn my head empty vessels staring back life is getting to me lately as you can clearly see and i don't think i stand a chance There's no place i can go to leave this behind this fucked up world is all there is on my mind this is how it had to be something's changed inside of me I always want to run and hide dig a hole and crawl inside it's not that i'm feeling blue i'm sure you got your problems too I'm not a jerk i'm not a dick maybe just a little sick one of these days i'm gonna snap then you'll know that i'm cracked