Worlds On Fire

The Butterfly Effect

Stand up take a bow You're leaving so who's laughing now? Just yourself by yourself No one else there's no one else

Face the end Walk out the door You're leaving giving up on us all Just yourself by yourself No one else here who can help

Now you wake up tired So uninspired To face the world The world's on fire

Lay down on the floor It's over you don't care anymore Face yourself by yourself No one else here who can try

Wake up Wake up To the world The world's on fire

Where did we go wrong? Fighting for so long

I didn't ask for this at all When my back's against the wall And my face painted for war I didn't ask for this at all
