

I Trust

The Byrds

In times of despair
I think about the good things that you've done
And although you're not there
I sometimes ask myself is anyone

It's hard being human when the whole world's uptight
But somehow I know
That everything's gonna work out alright

I might lose my patience
Won't you please try to understand
I've got an obligation
And I intend to face them to take my stand

It's so hard being human when only trouble's in sight
But somehow I know
That everything's gonna work out alright

Stick by me baby inspite of my faults
That's all I want you to do
And try to help me when I'm down
And I'll take good care of you

I wanna thank you
For all the loving that you give
It brightens my feelings
And gives me the strength I need to live

It's so hard being human when only trouble's in sight
But somehow I know
That everything's gonna work out alright
