

All Night Long

The Choir

There's a fire inside my heart
It's enough to light the way
But the sky is black above me
And I see in shades of gray
I hear voices in the shadows
And I wonder what is true
I hear laughing, I hear crying
And sometimes I know it's you

All night long
I've been looking out my window
All night long
I've been hoping to see you
All night long
I've been praying for the morning
I've been looking out my window all night long

When I finally see the Son
Will I know You as my friend?
If I fail to see you now
Will I recognize you then?
I see faces in the shadows
And I wonder what to do
I see dancing I see dying
And sometimes I know it's you

All night long
I've been looking out my window
All night long
I've been hoping to see you
All night long
I've been praying for the morning
I've been looking out my window all night long
