

Everything Has Changed

The Clarks

I thought we'd always be together
We'd sit around and drink black coffee
Talkin' 'bout the people we had been

We traveled through the childhood memories
You showed me scars from the bars of monkey
Smiling as your eyes reflected me

Now everything has changed
Your street, your hair, your name

My world is rearranged
'Cause everything has, everything has changed

I woke up on a winter Wednesday
I read the note that you had left me
You found another friend to help you through

For years I tried to put you under
The memories made me run for cover
I'd see your face in everything I'd do

Well I was wrong
You never felt the same

And now you've gone
Away... away

The days of wine and roses tasted
I think of all the time I've wasted
Wanderin' through a past that could have been

I know that nothing lasts forever
Best times are the ones remembered
Thankful for the days that I have seen

Everything has changed.
