

I know it's been a long time
Since I heard from you baby,
But Wasn't he the one who said he'd stay forever?
And you know it's been a long time
Since you walked beside your baby,
But wasn't he the one that said he'd keep you with the good ones?
But now you're walking all alone,
In the streets you used to share,
So now you're walking all alone,
Wonder if you'll ever go home.
I know it's been a long time
Since you walked beside me baby,
And every single night you look for him underneath the sheets.
And I know it's been a long time
Since you heard from your baby,
But Wasn't he the one who said he'd stay forever?
But now you're walking all alone,
In the streets you used to share,
So now you're walking all alone,
Wonder if you'll ever go home.
And you know it's been a long time
Since you walked beside your baby,
But wasn't he the one that said he'd keep you with the
good ones?
And I know it's been a long time
Since you heard from your baby,
But Wasn't he the one who said he'd stay forever?
But now you're walking all alone,
In the streets you used to share,
So now you're walking all alone,
Wonder if you'll ever go home.
Now you're walking all alone,
In the streets you used to share,
So now you're walking all alone,
Wonder if you'll ever go home.
