

Black Lightning

The Crown

Roar of distant thunder breaks the summer breeze
Clouds are gathering, mighty... rolling in at high speed
Deep waters arising, tidal waves unleash
The wind has now turned into a storm
Panic in your eyes, frightened, you realize...
There is no escape from the earth!

Armageddon has come; it has only just begun
And there is no god above to hear you cry
Earthquakes shake the ground, deep chasms open wide
Upon the face of the withering sky... The black lightning strikes!

Shattered heaven!

Warm blood is rising, all locusts are swarming the air
Great comets are coming, all animals going insane
Total disaster is throwing the earth out of orbit
The sun burns hypnotic blue
Faster and faster, till the center cannot hold
The end of the world is true!

Now the final fire explodes across the horizon
As your eyes are totally blackened out
The world is falling down in chaos, turning 'round
Upon the face of the psychotic sky... The eye of the storm!

This is the enormous black force that will end it all
The coming dark age of a world in fright!

Armageddon has come; it has only just begun
And there is no god above to hear you cry
Earthquakes shake the ground, deep chasms open wide
Upon the face of the withering sky... The black lightning strikes!

Now the final fire explodes across the horizon
As your eyes are totally blackened out
The world is falling down in chaos, turning 'round
Upon the face of the psychotic sky... The eye of the storm!
