

Avalanche of Light

The Cult

I saw you running fast in a shard of moonlight
Saw you moving faster through the broken glass
Running through the hills with your death at your heels
All tripped out in your mirrors and feathers

They think they got you trapped but you're so much bolder
Love is everything, hate is smaller
Oh, heart of hearts
Oh, heart of hearts
And on it goes, the silence grows

I know in this life everything's wild, everything came from you
Look in your eyes, avalanche of light, so much more for fools
I know in this life, everything came from you
Feel in this life, everything's wild, everything came from you

Iggy softly weeps into your shoulder
His tears are warm, baby, but you're so much colder
Tears are falling down as you dance and dance
Bitches just want money but they'll soon get older

They think they got you trapped but you're so much bolder
Love is everything, hate is smaller
Oh, heart of hearts
Oh, heart of hearts
And on it goes, the silence grows

I know in this life everything's wild, everything came from you
Look in your eyes, avalanche of light, so much more for fools
I know in this life, everything came from you
Feel in this life, everything's wild, everything came from you
Came from you

Flash of the knife, your brilliant smile
There's more to this than blood and paper
They think they got you, you're so much bolder
There ain't no tome, you're so much wiser

I know in this life everything's wild, everything came from you
Look in your eyes, avalanche of light, so much more for fools
I know in this life, everything came from you
Feel in this life, everything's wild, everything came from you
Came from you
Everything came from you
Came from you
So much more for fools
I know in this life, everything came from you
Feel in this life, everything's wild, everything came from you
Came from you