

You're Gonna Love Me

The Damnells

How long you gonna wait for
Long enough to lock up your door
I'll catch you on a train for the door
I'll wake you up when nothing is wrong
You say I break your heart like I'm a double-barreled bomb
I know you're gonna love me again by the end of this song

How long you gonna stay here
Long enough to kiss me without fear
I'll meet you in those gardens and seeds
Where flower beds wait for bended knees
You say I'm all alone 'cause I'm a ghost and a dream
I know you're gonna love me again like cookies and cream

Sorrow
So saccharine and sweet
This worry could turn cold into heat
I am what you want but you are everything I need
I know you're waiting in the wings
I know you gave me everything
I know I'm gonna love you again when I hear you sing
