Rest Your Head

The Dandy Warhols

Go to sleep the play is over Left your ticket on the seat Be redeemed when you're dreaming Lay your head and go to sleep

Don't you worry till tomorrow Heaven knows you surely will Think about it, take one more lap around it Close the blinds and set your mind at peace

Waste some time, waste some money Talk about your wasted years They devastate you, complete and complicate you Never minding your wasted tears

Don't you worry till tomorrow Heaven knows you surely will Think about it, take one last lap around it Close your eyes and let your mind release...

Love and kindness, pain and sadness All the stations in between They will derail you, they will assail you But rest your head, for I won't fail you

Don't you worry till tomorrow Heaven knows you surely will Think about it, one last short lap around it Close your eyes and set your mind at peace.
