

Well They're Gone

The Dandy Warhols

There was a time, I resigned,
Resigned myself to a lonely climb,
But thinking this was a bad sign,
All aboard flight 9,
One nine departing on time,
Since you called me

And said your weak and frail heart,
So many times had belonged to someone
That wasn't strong, yeah,
Well they're gone and you belong to me,
Just stay here in my arms,
Longer than it seems
I travel to your door,
Told me that you had a dream
And we stayed the night, and never leave

You said your weak and frail heart
So many times it belonged to someone
That wasn't strong, yeah,
Well they're gone and you belong to me,
Just stay here in my arms,
Longer than it seems
I travel to your door,
Told me that you had a dream
And we stayed the night

You said your weak and frail heart
So many times it belonged to someone
That wasn't strong, yeah,
Well they're gone
