

Looked At The Sun Too Long

The dB's

Long time no see
You can chalk up the waiting in part to me
One plus one is three
I think I have looked at the sun too long
Forgotten the words to your favorite song
The part of me dealing with you has shut down
So please excuse me

Long live modern love
Two people can live like a couple of doves
But when the cage opens wide
They stretch themselves out, they're ready to fly
Meeting again if they chance to collide
In a midair collision where two lovers died
So please excuse me

They crash and burn like a couple of jets
Forgive but they never forget

Back to square one
It feels like the good that we did's been undone
Objectivity
The insight is when my sight is killing me
I overreact at the drop of a hat
I'm nervous, I guess you know about that
So please excuse me
Please excuse me
Long time no see