

Alone In The Dark

The Devlins

I feel the storm, but it's so strange
To feel desire without the pain
And I feel your eyes search my soul
For something sacred, for something more than you need

Your words are lost, there's no aim
It's pure emotion that holds this flame
And the rain will fall and touch your heart
It's pure devotion alone in the dark

So tell me what you feel
Tell me every little thing
Tell me all that you are now
And tell me what it's like to see
From your own heart
Now I've got you
... Alone in the dark

The shadows fall all around
There's no one to harm you here, nowhere to be found
And it seems like we've been lost in the world of our Own thoughts
There's no one I'd rather be with now until the end

So tell me what you feel
Tell me every little thing
Tell me all that you are now
And tell me what it's like to see
From your own heart
Now I've got you
... Alone in the dark