

Strangest Things

The Devlins

She went in and bought some bullets
But she didn't have a gun
There was a time when time was never ending
But that time is long gone

And the strangest things are gonna knock you down
Wasn't any one man seemed to do it
Just a series of losers on a losin' streak
She smoked a cigarette, slipped on her leather jacket
And left town singin' "Life's so bittersweet."

And the strangest things are gonna knock you down
The strangest things are gonna pick you up again
You can only get so far before you reach the ocean
Where do you go from there
You can't go back, now you've set the wheels in motion
Dark clouds on the horizon
Rain's good for leather anyway
She dreamt that night she could walk on water
And she just walked away
And the strangest things are gonna knock you down
The strangest things are gonna pick you up again
Strangest things