

Surrender

The Devlins

The gates are open but you won't leave
Break the silence you choose to keep
Without knowing, without fear
Of where you're going now you are here

And when the talk has come too cheap
When the lie has cut so deep
When that money in your hand
Hasn't worked out like you planned
Surrender

You needed something to believe
Out of nothing you can receive
And in this light if you can't see
And if time is all you need
When the love you tried to hide
Left you feeling hurt inside

Surrender
To your heart
Surrender

Tell me, what you want
And when the talk has come too cheap
When the lie has cut so deep
When the money in your hand
Didn't work out like you planned
Surrender to your heart
Surrender to yourself
